WHOLESALE OAKLAND PAVE GRAFT CHARGED

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Vallejo is rejoicing over the fact that a plane service is soon to connect that city with San Francisco. The bay, like the nation, is shrinking. It won't be long before week-end trips to New York will be the usual thing.

And for the benefit of those who haven't got a holiday calendar like ours, tomorrow is the birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln.

If the conversation one hears around the street is any criterion, Richmond sport lovers will soon start to take advantage of a recreation we have right at our front door for years but never have really appreciatated.

We refer to boating on the inner harbor. The recent organization of an outboard motor club is going to do much to make this interesting sport popular.

If you've never gone skimming along on the water at miles a minute, you don't know what a real thrill is. An airplane ride is nothing compared to a speedy ride in an outboard motor racer. And when it turns over you can swim, that is if you know how—to shore. Those things the outboard motor fans wear around their shoulders are not parachutes but life preservers.

Which reminds us of an incident which happened on the inner harbor. A well known Richmond man who has lived on the harbor all his life, tipped over in a boat the other day and it was discovered that he did not know how to swim. Incidentally, he is one of the leaders in the outboard motor club.

Even if you don't think you want to own one of the boats take a trip down to the inner harbor some Sunday afternoon and watch the sport. Some of the boys might do a swimming act for your benefit.

Richmond's inner harbor is gaining quite a reputation in the San Francisco bay section for its smooth water. Several interesting outboard motor races will probably be staged there during the current season.

Not that we intend to run a dream section in this column but things have come to a bad turn when—people who want to have things kept out of the paper become so troublesome that an editor dreams that a prominent man has killed 17 persons and wounded 13 others and all of his friends are in the editorial room trying to keep the story out of print. Something has got to be done about this. We suggest that some of the most troublesome pests do their thinking first and act later. Then there won't be so many things on the police blotter.

The salt water barrier meeting on Saturday night indicated that there are several sides to the question.

The Mare Island navy yard is going to be one of the stumbling blocks.

Then there is that political angle hinted at by some of the speakers. That looms as one of the largest, although those in favor of the project will probably try to keep it in the background as much as possible.

And for the benefit of those who didn't enjoy that dinner. The party who prepared that dinner can cook meals for this individual from now until doomsday and there won't be any kick. Hotel Carquinez is going to be nationally known if any more meals like that one Saturday night are served.

Charles Renwick in charge of the committee of arrangements put another feather in his cap with that banquet.

CARS DAMAGED

Two cars were damaged when they collided at Twenty-third street and Grant avenue recently. The cars were driven by Burt Bowles, 609 Twentieth street, and C. E. Craven, 49 Richmond avenue.

PLANS FOR SPAN TO BE RUSHED

Richmond's dream of a bridge to span San Pablo bay from the Richmond shore to Marin county moved a step nearer to realization yesterday when the War Department issued Oscar H. Klatt, head of the American Toll Bridge company a permit to erect a vehicular toll bridge across the bay.

With the announcement, Klatt declared that plans for the $15,000,000 span will be completed as rapidly as possible and actual construction of the bridge will probably start in July or August.

The bridge will be about three miles long, including a fill over the shallow waters on the Marin county shore.

Hearing Held

There will be a clearance of 200 feet for the central spans, under the terms of the permit. This clearance will allow the largest ships to pass under the structure. Two central spans 1000 feet long are provided for.

Following a public hearing to consider protests of the navy department and private shipping interests that the clearances would obstruct navigation, the plans for the span were modified.

The approved plans call for "vertical clearance of not less than 175 feet at high water for the main span over the channel west

HUTTON MAY GET PROBATION

MARTINEZ, Feb. 10—Albert Hutton, 21, of Richmond, jailed by his brother John, because he is alleged to have stolen two overcoats from John and sold them, may yet escape the stigma of a burglary charge.

This developed today when he appeared before Superior Judge A. B. MacKenzie and a recommendation for probation was made by Probation Officer Thomas Boyer.

The court was informed by deputy district attorney James F. Hoey, that there was some doubt as to whether or not Albert was in the premises with or without his brother's sanction. The court continued sentencing until Thursday to allow an investigation.

According to police, Albert admitted stealing two overcoats from his brother's residence, and selling them during John's absence.

Authorities declare that if Albert was in his brother's home with his sanction, as he claims, the only charge that can be filed against Albert is petty theft.

Officers assert that Albert has a good record, and if released has employment awaiting for him.

Body Of Local Woman's Kin Found In Bay

A month's search for Allton L. Peckman, 45, brother-in-law of Mrs. C. F. Westwood of 3510 Esmond avenue, ended Saturday morning with the finding of the body of the man in San Francisco bay. Peckman had been missing since Jan. 9.

The body was found at the foot of Nineteenth street, in Oakland. Coroner's deputies declared that the body had evidently been in the water since Jan. 9. A small amount of money was found in his pockets.

Peckman was last seen on a Southern Pacific electric train that left the Oakland Mole at 8:20 on the night of Jan. 9. He was bound for his home at 2846 Cole street, Oakland. This was the last time he was seen alive.

Relatives expressed belief yesterday that the death was accidental, as they could not conribute any motive for suicide.

Peckham was a railroad mail clerk. His body was identified through badges and papers carried.

Funeral services will be held from Santa Rosa.

Peckham had a wide circle of friends here.

HUMPHREY AVE OPENING PLAN AGAIN SCORED

The Humphrey avenue opening about which there has been a great deal of unfavorable talk, and which is being handled through the board of supervisors, bobbed up its head again at the city council meeting last night.

A letter from J. Smeker, in which he stated the opening of Humphrey would do a great injury to the property owners in Natalie court. He stated there was only one person who favored the work, and urged the matter be brought to the supervisors' attention.

One property owner in that section, suddenly discovered there was no water or gas on that tract, and the cost of getting water to his lots would be nearly $1600.

Gasoline Storage Ordinance Given Initial Reading

At the meeting of the city council last night first reading was given of an ordinance regulating the storage and use of petroleum products in this city.

It provides the amount of gasoline that can be kept in apartment houses, residences and places of business, and also the kind of container it can be kept in.

The ordinance will come up for final adoption next Monday night.

Wandering Roller May Be Insured

The Boy Scouts won't be the only organization that has a motto of "Be Prepared." The El Cerrito city council is taking steps, almost, to adopt the same motto.

Last week a gasoline roller broke away from its driver, Fred Begerow, and ran into a house owned by Charles Stockbird, 179 Jordan avenue, causing $100 damage to the house and sidewalk.

At the meeting of the city council last night, Councilman Phil A. Lee, suggested that the city take out insurance so that just in case—

Lee was appointed to look into the matter.

4 HURT AS CAR TURNS OVER

Four men narrowly escaped death yesterday when the car in which they were riding blew out a rear tire and turned over. The accident occured near Tank Farm Hill on the state highway.

William Miller, 35, 418 Oak street, San Francisco, was the most seriously injured. He suffered a possible fractured jaw, cuts, bruises and other injuries. He is at the Hospital Richmond.

C. Lunden, 40, 251 Nansenk street, San Francisco, was badly cut on the face and body. He is at the Hospital Richmond.

J. Larsen, 42, of Pier 5, Western Terminal, San Francisco, was cut and bruised. He was taken home.

George Davidson, 50, of 2314 Adelene Drive, Burlingame, was cut and bruised. He was also taken home.

The four men were en route home from Crockett where they had been working as stevedores during the day.

At Tank Farm Hill, one of the rear tires of the roadster blew out and the car turned over twice.

Dr. S. N. Weil of Tormey was in an auto riding behind the wrecked car and he gave the injured first aid. A Wilson and Kratzer ambulance was called, and brought the injured men to the local hospital where they were treated. Dr. Weil referred the case to Dr. J. F. Feldman, who treated the men.

Hospital authorities were unable to learn who was driving the car at the time of the accident.

COUNCIL HOLDS SHORT SESSION

There was another brief session of the city council last night at which Mayor A. L. Paulsen presided. All members of the council were present.

The street light at Twenty-fourth street and Cutting boulevard will be moved to Twenty-fourth street and Foothill avenue. A street light was ordered installed at Carlston and Barrett avenue. It is a very dark corner.

Joe Perasso was granted a permit to open a service station at the northwest corner of Fourteenth street and Macdonald avenue.

A soft drink permit to conduct a place of business at 511 Macdonald avenue was granted L. A. Roark. A similar permit was ordered issued to Joseph E. Green of 37 Park Place.

A letter from Senator Hiram W. Johnson gave the information that the veterans pension bill had favorably passed the committee, and was ready to come before the senate for final action.

Action was taken approving the bond of the Pacific Electric Motor company.

Monthly reports of the different departments were read and ordered filed. The tax collector reported collections of $25,517.96, the plumbing inspector fees of $16, the electrical inspector $55.30, the building inspector $84.20.

According to the auditors monthly report there is a balance in the city treasury of $228,817.63.

SUBMARINE DEBATE FOR NAVY MEET SEEN TODAY

LONDON, Feb. 10.—UP—The Five Powers laid aside the question of battleships tonight to center on submarines.

There were prospects of a grim debate at tomorrow's plenary session, and an eventual agreement to "humanize submarine warware so that disasters like the sinking of the Lusitania may never occur again."

The Americans and British are preparing to argue for outright abolition of submarines, with the French and Japanese stoutly resisting.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson worked far into the night on the draft of his speech, which it was understood would set forth emphatically the United States' desire to eliminate submarine warfare.

BANDIT TRIO SOUGHT BY POLICE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10.—UP—Two young bandits who may have been responsible for three perfectly timed robberies in the San Francisco bay and peninsular region recently, played hide and seek with police in central California tonight.

The latest well planned robbers had been staged at San Jose today when the California theater was entered by two young men just as the assistant manager was opening the safe and a few minutes before a police officer arrived to escort him to a bank.

They took approximately $5000.

The bandits were traced thru Pacheco pass into the San Joaquin valley. There they alternated using stolen motorcycles for a few miles and riding in automobiles in between, just to bewilder police. They pointed a revolved at a constable of Los Banos and made him turn his back while they sped on.

Last week a bank in San Carlos was robbed while the San Carlos police department using the same building was out to lunch, and several days earlier the Children's hospital here had a payroll stolen by someone well acquainted with procedure of the cashier.

GAS FLAMES PERIL TRAIN

VENTURA, Feb. 10— (U.P.) — Two trainmen suffered minor burns when the crack Sunset Limited of the Southern Pacific struck a gasoline truck and trailer at a crossing near here today, igniting the gasoline.

Peter Everley, engineer, and William H. Goettesche, fireman, were burned when they stuck to their posts until the train had been stopped. James G. Stephens, driver of the gasoline truck, escaped uninjured.

The engine and baggage coach were enveloped in flames. Many of the 150 passengers, especially those in the front Pullmans, left the cars, but returned when they saw there was no danger. The private car of the University of Southern California basketball team and of William Randolph Hearst were part of the train. Hearst was not aboard.

Kin Arrested In Death Of Woman

LONG BEACH, Feb. 10—(U.P.)—A brother-in-law of Mrs. Billie Payne, 33, whose mangled body was found on a highway near here Sunday, was docked today on suspicion of murder.

The man, Orin K. Kidd, told a story with which deputy sheriffs said they were not entirely satisfied. Kidd said he had left the woman sitting on a curbing, intoxicated, and unable to walk the remaining one block to his machine. He proceeded alone, and returned to find the woman gone.

Three hours later, Mrs. Payne's body, bloody and with an arm torn off, was found on a nearby highway. Kidd did not report her disappearance, but S. E. Plasoc, another brother-in-law, at whose home they had met, did call police. The woman's husband, Price Payne, said she had been involved in a liquor ring.

SA NQUENTIN, Feb. 10.—UP—The first execution on Monday in the history of the state claimed the life of James Chandler, 46, Los Angeles negro, who killed his common law wife in 1928.

Chandler walked calmly from the death chamber while a phonograph was playing the hymn "Face to Face."

As he mounted the 13 steps to the gallows he chanted in an undertone:

"The Lord is my shepherd: may he have mercy on my soul."

PLOT CHARGED IN HUGHES APPOINTMENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—(U.P.)—Charges were made today by Henry L. Doherty, the oil millionaire, that Chief Justice-designate Charles Evans Hughes and President Hoover were linked in an alleged plot to impose a super-government on the United States.

Doherty's charge was made in a letter to the Senate judiciary committee considering Hughes' nomination. The committee gave it little weight, for it voted 10 to 2, Chairman Norris and Senator Blaine, Rep., Wis., dissenting, to approve the nomination.

Brought up in the Senate a few hours later, opposition to Hughes spread somewhat. Senator Blease, the irrepressible Democrat from South Carolina, blocked Senate Republican leader Watson's request for immediate action by an objection.

YOUTH ADMITS GIRL ATTACK

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10.—UP—Police said here tonight that Walter Zwick, 23, had confessed he kidnapped and attacked Helen Goldman, 19, after accosting her as she left a dance here at the Girls' club early Sunday. They still sought Fred Pepe, 21, companion of Zwick, on similar charges.

Zwick told police he lost his head, they said.

Pepe, who has a long record of petty crimes, and Zwick promised Helen Goldman and her sister, Lillian, 16, that they would drive them straight home. They headed in another direction. Lillian jumped from their machine but Helen was held in the back seat.

The installation of electroliers on Twenty-third street is progressing rapidly. The work will be completed within the next two weeks.

GRAND JURY TOLD ABOUT PAYOFF

OAKLAND, Feb. 10.—Characterized by District Attorney Earl Warren as the "most amazing tale of graft and corruption ever heard before a grand jury" a story was recounted in Oakland today, by Ernest Quincy Norman, former member of the patent paving firm of Norman and Garbutt.

Norman, admitted former Oakland "fixer" and grafter, was brought to Oakland from Las Vegas, Nev. to testify in the Alameda county paving investigation.

Norman painted a verbal panorama in which county and city officials were not only linked with paving graft, but were accused of profiting financially through connivance with gamblers, bootleggers and rum runners.

Fred Haase, another former patent paving contractor located in Modoc county, followed Norman to the stand and in addition to corroborating Norman's story, made accusations hitting East Bay officials.

Officials Accused

Among the names brought into the testimony by Norman were: W. H. Parker, Oakland commissioner of Public Works, and until a few days ago, commissioner of Streets; John G. Garbutt ,assistant superintendent of the Alameda County Detention home; Charles Don, deputy city clerk; Deputy Sheriffs, J. J. Collier and J. L. Davis, and Ray Lamberson, until a week ago, secretary to Commis-

MARTINEZ, Feb. 10—B. L. Willis, 35, Hercules powder company worker, was today assessed a fine of $200 on a reckless driving charge by Justice of the Peace Frank Glass.

Willis was arrested in Pinole last night by Traffic Officer M. L. Barbee, and charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquors. The lesser charge was filed against him today, and rather than take a jail sentence of 200 days, Willis paid the fine.

Willis had driven his automobile only one block, after taking a "few drinks," when he was arrested. He told the court that he intended to drive his car home and had gone but a block when arrested.

A WOMAN'S DEFENSE

(TO ONE WHO RIDICULED HER LOVE FOR LITTLE THINGS)

Do not despise the bright and little things
In which I find delight. These bauble-toys
That give me delicate, enduring joys
Are just as worthy of your marvelings
As greater are. The sapphires of my rings
Have all the blue of heaven's plumbless deeps
Which you so love; the snowy mountain-steeps
Sparkle no more than diamonds; the Spring's

Magical leaves your eyes rejoice to see
Are no way greener than my satin dress;
And all your giants are material
As are my trifles. Even my chamber, small
And greatly loved, contains the mystery
Of space as well as star-fields limitless.

SALUTE THE STENOGS!

IF THE American business girl ever doubted that she were "good"—in the genially slangy sense of possessing a personality all-conquering in its charm—she must, these last few days, have been disabused of such unnecessary humility. For our stenographers and typists who went over with the American delegation to the disarmament conference have already done their share in disarming the English press and prejudices. These seventeen girls, according to all reports, have captivated London, which has christened them "the Beauty Chorus."

On top of such enslavement of the never-will-be-slaves Britons comes a sweeping local tribute to the business girl from a presumably hard-headed and experienced business man, Joseph F. O'Keefe, Secretary of the Chicago Association of Credit Men. Mr. O'Keefe has just officially warned his organization of the superior deadliness of the office female of the species.

"The wooing propensities of women are difficult to overcome," he says. "In office work these propensities are the most insidious purveyors of inefficiency and distraction."

GIRLS, we ask you, could anything be sweeter? Where, oh, where, are the gidomy prophets who were so sure that woman's entrance into the business world would make her hard, unalluring, unfeminine? Let these unworthy pessimists be confounded by London's rapturous enthusiasm for the S. A. of a typical group of our young and efficient business women—for, if they weren't efficient, the State Department certainly wouldn't have given them their present jobs. That can be taken for granted.

The English newspapers describe the girls as resembling movie stars for beauty and for luxurious furs, and their pictures appear on every front page. The Paris typists are not getting a look-in on the publicity. The English stenographers are reported as frankly envious.

A London woman writer—naturally a keen critic of her own sex—salutes American stenogs as "startlingly different." In comparing them with English girls, she says: "I admit we are less smart, less well groomed and less sure of ourselves than these attractive Americans." She finds that the business girl from the States knows "how to wear her clothes;" and, though made up, "it suits her amazingly chic clothes."

In brief, she thinks our business girls "charming."

AND Mr. O'Keefe, naturally enough, finds that they charm. These "wooing propensities" of theirs, so "difficult to overcome"! At this point, the American business girl who knows her offices tries to remember, between blushes, how many Galahads, how many Josephs she ever has observed in the struggle—however "difficult"—to overcome whatever "wooing propensities" may be to right, to left and in front of their desks.

Say not the struggle naught availeth! Say, so far as most business girls can observe, there isn't any struggle. Given one business girl with a curl and a dimple and a few "wooing propensities," and line forms on the left of her typewriter.

Not that even the female non-wooers are safe. In the matter of "wooing propensities" life downtown is no one-way street. The girl who is trying to get out her letters by five o'clock agrees with Mr. O'Keefe that indeed "these propensities are the most insidious purveyors of inefficiency and distraction"—to her, thanks to those members of Mr. O'Keefe's sex who would a-wooing go.

Joking aside, the generous British testimony and the reluctant testimony of the Secretary of the Chicago Association of Credit Men go to confirm the same pleasing fact: that American business girls are not only clever but charming. And why ever not? Also, more power to them! Until the advent of the American business girl, there were altogether too few females to whom both "clever" and "charming" were applicable adjectives!

Dr. Ales Hrdlicka of the Smithsonian says that man has the inherent brain capacity to think from ten to a hundred times more effectively than he does now. It occurs to a woman that, if man ever succeeds in tapping this inherent capacity, he may think of some excuse for staying out all night which his wife can believe.

THEATRE FASHIONS By Helen Worden

SOFT shades of rose chiffon fashion the afternoon frock worn by Helene Dumas in "Mendel Inc." The lines of the dee phertha are repeated in the tiered skirt. Harmonizing with the graceful little dress is a draped beret of rose velvet. A platinum fox scarf, rose quartz beads and gray kid slippers complete the costume.

At the right is sketched Dorothy Appleby, leading lady of "Young Sinners," in a dancing frock of white lace combined with sheer white net. The robe de style effect is emphasized by the basquelike bodice of lace slipped over the bouffant net skirt, which is banded in lace. Pastel shaded silk roses ornament the off-the-shoulder decolletage.

Helping the School Child

By Emilie Hoffman

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

IN SCHOOL every effort is made to conserve the vision of your child. Do you co-operate in this at home? You have many more opportunities for observing your child than the teacher has, and this is a very important matter in the education of your child. His inability to do satisfactory work in school may be due entirely to faulty vision. This is often the case in children who are classed as poor readers.

In school, careful attention is given to the lighting of the school room, and every precaution is taken to avoid eye strain in the school children. At home, children write, draw and read, &c., without any heed to the position of the light. With such a variety of adjustable lamps it is not difficult to arrange the home lighting to the best advantage of the child. Never allow your boy or girl to read in a waning light, and always have the rays of light fall upon the paper or book and not glaring to the eyes. In reading, the light should come over the left shoulder, and when working at the desk or table it should come from the left side unless there is a desk lamp attached at the front of the desk.

In some schools children are promptly referred to an oculist at the appearance of the first defects of vision, but parents can hardly expect such attention from the schools. The home is the place to observe defects and to take corrective measures without delay.

If your child has frequent frontal headaches or dizziness, watch him when reading or doing home work for other symptoms of defective vision. Does he hold his head in a peculiar position to look at things? Does he rub his eyes or frown much? If he told you his eyes smart or burn you would immediately take him to an eye specialist. Do not wait until he complains. If you see him twitch his eyes or hold his book nearer than twelve inches from his face, if he tells you the letters look blurred or he cannot look at the work or print long without closing his eyes for a minute you should know it is high time to pay attention to the symptoms. Your family doctor will be able to examine the eyes and will refer you to a specialist or an oculist as may be necessary.

Many mothers object to children wearing glasses, but it is better to have them wear corrective glasses for a short period in childhood than go through life with defective vision.

Before your child starts in school make sure his eyes will pass the test; then with the school precautions and instructions on the care of the eyes and the constant and careful home observation and attention you may be reasonably sure it is not defective vision that is retarding your child's school progress.

Keeping Youth in Your Eyes

"I HAVE lines underneath my eyes," writes a devoted reader of this column, "and I just can't seem to get rid of these lines. They are not from lack of sleep—for I get the required amount—they are caused by a habit I have of rubbing my eyes. This in turn is caused by my rather long eyelashes which are continually getting into my eyes. Rubbing my eyes this way has dragged the delicate tissue surrounding them, so, of course, lines have appeared, making my eyes look tired and dull."

For one reason or another there are a great many people given to this habit of rubbing the eyes. Some do it because of eye strain, others because of occasional eye fatigue, others because of eye trouble that is congenital and others from sheer fidgetiness. And then there are those who stretch their eyes in the virtuous belief that they are massaging them.

People, like our correspondent, who have brittle or falling eyelashes will do well to let the lashes float out of the eye or have them plucked out by an optometrist. There is no excuse for rubbing the eyes under any circumstances. We feel, however, that the writer of the letter realizes that. Her present problem is what to do about the stretched skin about the eyes and the lines.

One excellent and exceedingly simple corrective for the bagging is egg white. The area about the eyes should be anointed lightly with it once or twice a week, and then a gentle tattoo played with the finger tips directly beneath the eyes. Egg white is a remarkable astringent, you know.

For the lines and the actual or threatening crowsfeet, use a high—meaning in this case thin—skinfood or nourishing cream. And, by the way, the finest is none too good for use on this very perishable part of the face. Gently smooth the cream over the eyelids and just as gently pat it beneath the eyes and at the temples. Be generous with your cream, too, and let it remain on the skin over night.

The present season, with its biting winds, is mightily unkind to eyes. It dries out the natural moisture in the skin surrounding them, and it causes it to shrivel and look old. We should therefore avoid powdering too close to the eyes and we should certainly give them protection against the winter breezes. Perhaps the most effective way is to smooth a very little disappearing cream around the eyelids and the temples. The skin food does beautifully if one is fastidious in the matter of removing any excess.

Your Speaking Voice

By Harriet Haskin Power

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

WORDS are precious things, so be chary of them. Don't fling them around promiscuously or carelessly. Speak them with thought behind them or else hold them back altogether. Unless you really have something to say and instinctively feel that it is worth saying in a convincing manner, keep silent. Do more thinking and less talking or, at any rate, less talking at random. Few of us realize how impressive—and expressive—silence can be.

Whether you will or no, that voice of yours is constantly revealing you, not only by word but also by tone and by the way you use it—meaning your voice. However, before you can hope to express yourself clearly and interestingly, even after you have brought your voice up to its best, you must acquire a habit of thinking in an orderly way.

Perhaps you allow yourself frequently to think of nothing in particular. The habit is a bad one. It leads to careless, pointless speech. Marshal your thoughts into line and think each subject of your cogitations out to a conclusion if it is worth while. If the subject that bobs into your mind isn't worth that much purposeful thought, dismiss it without wasting time on it. This clear, concise way with your thinking apparatus will reflect itself in a clearer, more concise and more interesting way of speaking.

And by that I do not mean merely that what you have to say will be more directly meaningful, but that your words, and even the syllables, your enunciation, your articulation, even your intonation, will show improvement. It is really amazing how many virtues are awakened once you begin to pay attention to your speaking voice.

As you were warned at the outset of this series, there is no sense in trying to acquire an entirely different voice. Rather, preserve the best about the one you have, grafting on it whatever improvements can be made without destroying its individuality. In all the world there are no two voices that sound precisely alike, and when you pause to consider that if there were they would not sound precisely alike to any two listeners, you begin to realize what an individual factor the voice is, and what an influence it is in making a personality out of a person.

The point is, when you speak, speak with assurance. You should be able to do that now, for that "assurance" that you would convey to others can only come from your own innate assurance that you know what you are talking about and that you are speaking correctly.

A DISH A DAY

By Nancy Dorris

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

Pie in some form or other continues the favorite American dessert. Open-faced, covered, cross-bar or deep dish, large or individual pie appeals to the masculine taste for sweets.

Almost every wife plans to serve pie once or twice during the week, and when she has time makes a large batch of pastry to store in the refrigerator for later use. Otherwise, she serves another and a quicker dessert.

Deep dish pies in a jiffy rather sounds like sleight of hand, yet they are being materialized in the modern kitchenettes. Prepared pie-crust from a package mixed with a little water is mixed and ready to fit over a dish of fruit in a remarkably short time. The baking takes half as long as the large pie, and may continue during the main course.

The culinary artist, quick to adopt intelligent short cuts and speed up the actual preparation of meals, regards prepared piecrust in the same light as prepared oatmeal and other cereals, puddings and fruit flavored gelatins.

As every American knows, the deep dish pie boasts only a top crust underneath which luscious fruits tempt and delight. For the first magical pie an old favorite may be tried.

DEEP DISH APPLE PIELET

Two cups apple sauce or more
Brown sugar to taste.
One-half teaspoon cinnamon.
Sprinkle of cloves.
One tablespoon butter dots.
One package piecrust.
Four tablespoons ice water, about.
Oven temperature: 450 degrees.
Baking time: 20 to 25 minutes.
Servings: four.

The amount of sugar depends upon the taste, some preferring a very sweet filling and others a slightly sweet one. With sweetened canned apple sauce the brown sugar sprinkled over the top may be less than for home-made unsweetened sauce. The sauce speeds up the deep dish pie; sliced apples may be used with good success provided the baking time is extended to allow the apples to cook tender.

Turn the contents of the package of prepared piecrust into the mixing bowl; with a knife, mix in the cold water, lightly, to make a very soft dough of the mixture. Judgment must be relied upon as to the type of dough handled with best results. Some cooks like a soft and some a firm dough.

Quickly place the dough upon a floured board and lightly roll out. Mark out into four rounds with a large cooky cutter, and mark with a crescent and one or two dashes to allow the steam to escape.

Place one-fourth of the apple sauce in a small earthen pie dish; sprinkle with brown sugar, cinnamon, cloves and butter dots. Lay the pastry round over the top, and with the thumb and forefinger pinch into place over the edge of the dish. Set in a hot oven and bake until brown and delicious. Serve hot with or without cream or hard sauce.

From the emergency shelf a number of delectable deep dish pies can be made as quickly as the apple described above. They include:

Apricot sprinkled with sugar, flour and butter dots.

Huckleberries sprinkled with the same plus a little salt.

Pitted red cherries sprinkled with flour and sugar.

Cranberry sauce mixed with seeded raisins and sprinkled with sugar and butter dots.

Prepared mincemeat doctored with seasoning and jam.

Peach halves or slices with sugar, almond and butter.

Pear halves with sugar and butter.

Pineapple wedges (alone or with apricot slices), butter and sugar.

Plums with sugar, flour and butter.

Prunes with walnuts, sugar, flour and butter.

Raspberries, loganberries or strawberries with sugar, flour, butter.

Rhubarb with sugar, flour and butter.

The Farmer's Advice

By Alfalfa Smith

I SAW a strange sight the other day—it was a policeman eating pills out of a small bottle!

Ah, me! I suppose policemen have to be in the style as well as other people, and how many people do you know who are well? Or, let me ask, how many people do you know who either have little bottles of pills in their pockets or have them in their medicine cabinets?

Remember, there is no one in this world who can cure you except yourself. Whether you lie in bed until they put a lily in your hand or not is a matter entirely up to you. Thank God your trouble is inside of you and not in some foreign country, or up in the sky.

If this should be read by some one who is lying on a bed of pain, let me say this: Get up and take a chance!

There are a thousand reasons why you cannot get up and take that chance, but suppose you take the one chance, just once.

TELLING THE WORLD

PITY THE POOR

CONGRESS will investigate the telephone company for boosting its rates and you might as well have the testimony now:

CHAIRMAN SNITZ—Mr. Gookins, please take the stand.

GOOKINS—Yes, sir.

CHAIRMAN—You are Clyde B. Gookins, are you not, and what is your official position with the American Tel. & Tel.?

GOOKINS—I am Sixth Assistant Executive Vice President in charge of finance and lead nickels.

CHAIRMAN—Now before we go any further, Mr. Gookins, will you please explain which "Tel." stands for "telephone" in American Tel. & Tel.?

GOOKINS—The first one.

CHAIRMAN—What does the second "Tel." mean?

GOOKINS—I don't know. You would have to subpoena our research department.

CHAIRMAN—Now, as I understand it, Mr. Gookins, the telephone company is planning a $187,000,000 boost in rates. Just what is the necessity for this?

GOOKINS—To take care of our expansion program. Since 1925 more than 2,000,000 additional telephones have been installed and we are running low on wrong numbers. Unless we immediately order three billion new wrong numbers, costing approximately 5 cents apiece, subscribers are liable to get the right number right away and be shocked.

CHAIRMAN—Assuming you purchase these additional wrong numbers, that would not explain the total of the boost you ask.

GOOKINS—I know it. But the company has been under a tremendous expense lately. For instance, an epidemic of the hives in Texas cost us six or seven million dollars.

CHAIRMAN—How could little things like the hives cost the company so much money?

GOOKINS—We had to instal a million French hand phones so our subscribers could talk with people while still scratching their hives.

CHAIRMAN—Has the company any other unusual expenses to justify this increase?

GOOKINS—Yes, sir. For example, it costs us $3,750,000 annually in overtime for our operators to pronounce the number nine in two syllables—like ni-un. And you could easily say Jack Robinson while an operator was trilling the words thuh-r-r-r-reeeee. All these little things run into money.

CHAIRMAN—What other increased expenses does the company have to meet?

GOOKINS—Well our laboratories are now trying to break down the word five into a couple of syllables and that will be an additional expense.

CHAIRMAN—What else?

GOOKINS—Our expenses for post holes have gone way up lately. We order several thousand nine-inch post holes from our factory in New York, and by the time they're delivered in Arizona the post holes have shrunk.

CHAIRMAN—Can you think of any more excuses for letting you get away with this rate increase?

GOOKINS—Oh, lots more. Take replacements, for instance. Every day over our system we have to replace 4,500 hooks on pay station 'phones where folks break them jiggling to get their nickels back.

CHAIRMAN—Go on, Mr. Gookins, with your story.

GOOKINS—Then take the matter of telephone directories. We used to get out our annual spring edition around June or July. But now we are competing with magazines that have their Christmas number on the news stands by Labor Day. We've got to meet this competition by getting this spring's edition in the hands of subscribers by Feb. 15. But it takes a tremendous amount of money, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN — Mr. Gookins, you're breaking my heart. Excuse it, please, but I—I—I can't go on. That's all today, Mr. Gookins. We'll call you again.

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—men who would keep that trim, proper figure, eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain the lithe, youthful, modern figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough.

*Be Moderate! . . . Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

Nature's Medicine for Constipation

The greatest remedy for constipation known to mankind is provided by Nature in the form of herb juices; Plantlax, the remarkable liver tonic and internal cleanser, is a special combination of juices or extracts taken from harmless medicinal herbs. Not only does it sweep the bowels free of all accumulated waste matter, but it acts like a charm on the liver, causing that organ to throw off excess bile which pollutes the entire system. The very first dose gives amazing results. You lose that dull, loggy feeling which makes you want to sleep so much. The coating on your tongue disappears. Headaches, sour stomach, indigestion, gas, bilious attacks, dizzy spells, sallow complexion or other symptoms of constipation and torpid liver can no longer exist when your system is thoroughly cleansed of its impurities.

Anybody can take Plantlax without injurious effects. It works in a gentle, easy way—while you sleep. Large bottle $1 at all good drug stores.

OLD FAVORITES IN TALKIE HERE

Two favorites of the screen who attained new heights since the inception of talking pictures are united in their second feature. "Romance of Rio Grande," now on exhibition at the Fox-California theatre, where it will continue for 2 days. The players we have in mind are Warner Baxter and Mary Duncan, and the new thrilling drama of pioneer days is their first co-featured attraction since "Through Different Eyes," another all talking Fox movietone production.

"Romance of Rio Grande" was adapted from the thrilling novel, "Conquistador," by Katherine Fullerton Gerould. It reveals in vivid episodes the chapters taken from the lives of the early pioneers struggling for supremacy of the unexplored regions of the west, especially below the Rio Grande border.

Besides Miss Duncan and Baxter, Antonio Moreno is also featured. Mona Maris, Robert Edeson, Solidad Jiminez, Agostino Borgato, Albert Roccardi, Majel Coleman, Charles Byers and Merrill McCormack also have important parts. Alfred Santell directed the production.

On the same bill is a talking comedy, "Stewed, Fried and Boiled."

Cocktail Shaker May Be Banned

LOS ANGELES Feb. 10.—UP—The status of a cocktail shaker is the point at issue in U. S. District court here.

Is a cocktail mixer manufacturing liquor

An indictment charged Joseph Daniel Murphy with passession and manufacture of whisky. He admitted the count of possession, but pleaded that he was cutting grain alcohol and making cocktails which he felt was not manufacturing, in the sense of the law.

The U. S. district attorney's office felt that it was. Murphy's counsel argued that if the court construed the mixing of water and alcohol as manufacturing liquor, then any person mixing alcohol with other liquids would be guilty of the offense.

The case is under advisement.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

PAVING GRAFT AIRED AT HEARING

sioner Parker.

Norman in his testimony declared that Parker was elected thru the help financial and otherwise of Norman, Garbutt, Haase and other members of a fraternal organization to which they belonged.

"Took Care" Of Friends

After election, Norman charges, Parker "took" care of his friends, and with the help of Commissioner C. C. Young gave Norman and Gargett jobs as special investigators. Their duties, Norman said, were to check up on city employes and to cause the removal of those who were not friendly.

With Lamberson and Davis and Collier, Norman and Garbutt arranged to put slot machines thruout the county. Norman stated that they collected $5000 which was to be paid to officials for "protection."

Club Pops Up

Norman told of the starting of the "Greater Oakland Club" in 1927 ,declaring that Garbutt 'fixed' the gambling concession of the club. He related how the club finally passed out of existance after its expose as a gambling circle.

That Davis and Collier of the sheriff's office agreed to furnish protection to a San Jose bootlegger, Louis King, was also related by Norman. He said that he and Lamberson introduced the bootlegger to the deputies, who were to get $1 for each gallon of alcohol sold and an additional 25 cents to go to Garbutt.

According to Norman's accusations, the deputies agreed not only to protect the bootlegger but to "drum up trade" for him.

Paving Graft Charged

After the 1927 election in which Parker was elected to head the street department, Norman told how he turned his hand to paving graft. It was then, Norman declared that he became associated with Haase, a representative of the California Vibroliphic company, a patent paving manufacturer, to get lucrative contracts for that company, he said.

Norman told how when he first approached Parker the street commissioner said that the Warrentite people were paying him one cent a square foot for all paving in Oakland. Norman said Parker told him "as you are a good friend of mine and supported me in the election, you give me one fourth of a cent and give Lamberson one fourth of a cent, and we'll let you in."

Deal Arranged

The deal was finally arranged, Norman stated but about that time he took sick and had to leave Garbutt to manage his affairs, he said.

While recuperating from his illness, Norman charges Garbutt with double crossing him. Norman said he was told by Garbutt that he had failed to get any lucrative contracts for Vibroliphic people.

Later, Norman declared, he discovered that the Vibroliphic people had paved Excelsior avenue, and that Garbutt had received a check for $5060 for his part in the contract. Norman said that when he demanded his "cut" Garbott refused to give him anything.

Norman claimed that he went to Commissioner Parker, who told him that he would see that Norman got in on the rest of the deals.

Complaints received by Mayor John L. Davie, that graft in the awarding of street contracts had been prevelant for years, is now being investigated by the Grand Jury.

Charges Denied

Commissioner Parker and Lamberson both branded Norman's story as "untrue". Parker declared he expected to be called before the grand jury soon, and would tell his story then.

Garbutt said that he would believe nothing Norman said under oath, and declared that he had never accepted graft from anyboy, and never gave any.

COUNTY 18TH IN WEALTH OF PUPILS

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 10.—UP—Contra Costa county, with a total of $24,673 in wealt hfor every boy and girl attending her schools, ranks 18th among the 58 counties of California in true wealth per pupil.

Walter E. Morgan, chief of the bureau of research and statistics in the State Department of Education, made this computation in a report handed to Governor Young this week.

In estimating the amount of property represented by each elementary pupil, Morgan took into consideration the ratio between the actual value and the value placed upon the property by county assessors. This differs with different counties.

The total number of pupils in average daily attednance is then used to figure out the true wealth per pupil.

Alpine county, California's baby county' leads the entire state in wealth per pupil, with a total of $85,505 for each of the 13 children enrolled in that county's one school.

Placer county stood at the bottom of the list, with $10,766 per pupil.

Los Angeles county, which has the largest school enrollment of any county in California, stood eleventh in the true wealth" list, with an average of $27,828 per pupil. San Francisco ranked fourth with $37,200 and Alameda county 13th with $20,687.

craft. A French spokesman informed the United Press that the Paris delegation would submit an entirely new text to replace the Root treaty of 1922 regulating submarines which France never ratified. The English and Americans, not expecting to achieve abolition of "subs" were expected to revive the Root treaty with little or no change.

The Root treaty, so called, is a combination of Elihu Root's formula on submarine combat and Charles Evans Hughes 'efforts to regulate the use of poison gases. It defines the rules of "search and seizure" and applies those rules to submarines as well as to surface warships. It recognizes that submarines should not be used as commerce destroyers, since they probably would be unable to sink merchant ships without violating the "search and seizure" rules.

Treaty Hit

The French say the Root treaty is not specific enough in reference to gas warfare. They add that its definition of submarine commanders who violate the "search and seizure" rules as "pirates" should be altered so that a signatory government should be accountable for the acts of its naval officers.

The French further believe that restrictions placed on submarines should be applied also to other non-regulated weapons of sea warfare.

Although Stimson refused to deny or affirm, it was learned from another source that the American delegation had definitely proposed to Britain and Japan the right of the United States to replace some of its old battleships, like the Arkansas, with a super battleship like the British Rodney, in order to achieve capital ship parity with England. This was the first indication that any of the three large powers had leanings toward new battleship construction in the next five years. The Americans believe the establishment of a 15-ship parity with Britain now, as proposed, would give the latter a distinct advantage in modernity of battleships, and they propose the Arkansas-Rodney arrangement to reduce the disparity.

SOCCER TEAM LOSES TO HAKOAHS

The Richmond Soccer club athletes came out on the light end of a 3 to 2 score in a fast contest with the Oakland Hakoahs Sunday at Nicholl park.

The local eleven started off slowly in Sunday's battle, with the result that the Hakoahs had gained a 2 to 0 lead by half time. Richmond rose to its usual high playing standard in the last period, scoring two counters before the gun. Brain and Chambers were the Richmond boys who sank the ball in the Hakoah net in that last, fast half. The Hakoahs won the game by adding another goal to their side of the scoreboard.

Richmond's chances of competing in the finals of the Junior Eastbay Soccer league are not as rosy as they were previous to Sunday's game. Richmond, if it had won Sunday's contest, would have been tied at the top of the league with the Scandinavians. The locals are now somewhere among the "also rans." Yet, their hopes are not entirely dead, for there is still a period of several weeks before the final playoff in which Richmond can regain its lost standing.

ALL STAR FIVES IN WINS OVER CROCKETT

The Richmond All-Star Unlimiteds and 145 pound quintets both registered heavy defeats over the Crockett outfits last night at the Richmond union high school gymnasium. The Richmond heavyweights were victorious by a 39 to 18 score, while the local lightweights smashed through the Crockett defense to gather 31 points against the 20 counters gathered by the Crockett athletes.

The main event ot fhe evening provided more laughs than thrills after the locals had established a fair margin in the first half. Curious buckets were sunk from here and there, and still more curious hole shots were missed time after time. The Richmond boys had an easy time of it during the last two periods.

The Crockett lightweights made a determined stand against the local 145 pound team, but the Crockett defense was too weak to withstand the first-class team work displayed by the Richmond lightweights.

The next games on the Richmond city league All-Stars program will be played against Martinez Wednesday night in the Richmond union high school gymnasium. The All-Stars suffered their only defeat of this season at the hands of the Martinez boys.

The local city league picked teams will travel to Petaluma Friday night to meet the Petaluma All-Star aggregation.

U. S. GOLFERS TO INVADE ENGLAND

NEW YORK, Feb. 10—(U.P.)—America's crack golfers will invade England in force this season in an attempt to make a clean sweep of Great Britain's major golf championships. The invading force will be the strongest sent abroad in recent years and there is a strong possibility that it will bring back not only the Walker cup team trophy, but the English amateur, open and women's titles.

The invaders will be headed by Capt. Bobby Jones and his Walker cup team, composed of Harrison Johnson, George Von Elm, Francis Ouimet, Dr. O. F. Willing, Jesse Sweetser, George Voight and Donald Moe, which sails from New York, April 30, on the Cunard liner Mauretania.

Dates of the important British competitions have been selected as follows:

Dates Told

Walker cup matches, May 15 and 16, Royal St. George's course, at Sandwich.

British Amateur, May 26-31, St. Andrews.

British Open, June 16-21, Hoy Lake.

British Women's, May 12-16, Formby Golf club, Lancashire.

In previous years Britain has staged the Walker cup matches at the conclusion of the Amateur championships. The order has been reversed this year and the shift may have an important effect on America's chances in the two competitions.

Walker Cup

The Walker cup players will have only nine days to practice on British courses before the cup competition. On previous invasions the American players have played themselves into form during the British Amateur championship, seldom getting far in that classic.

Jess Sweetser is the only American born player who ever has won the amateurship championship.

Most of the amateurs will remain in England to compete in the open tourney, which has been won by American players eight times in the last nine years. Walter Hagen, professional, four times winner of the title, is making a tour of the Orient and Australia, and does not expect to reach England in time for the tourney and will thus let his title go by default. Bobby Jones has won the open title twice and will be a serious competitor again this season.

Glenna To Play

Glenna Collett will carry America's hopes in the British women's tournament. Miss Collett was defeated in the finals last year by Joyce Wethered, greatest of all women golfers. Miss Wethered has announced her intention of withdrawing from competitive golf and if she does not elect to defend her championship, Miss Collett will be an outstanding favorite to win the title—which never has been won by an American player.

England also will witness an official contest for the world's professional championship. Leo Diegel, winner of the 1930 P. G. A. tournament, has agreed to meet Abe Mitchell, leading British pro, in a 36 hole match at Moor Park, May 17, for a $2500 stake.

COREY NINE WINS CONTEST

The Earl Corey Garage nine started their 1930 season right Sunday by defeating the Diamond Feed and Fuel outfit of Oakland Sunay by a 3 to 1 score at El Cerrito.

Johnny Babich hurled a neat game for the El Cerritans, allowing only three scattered hits. The game was well fought till the final gun, and both teams played a sensational brand of baseball, only one error being made in the entire game.

Several more games are in the offing for the Corey boys who ought to do well, judging by their showing in Sunday's contest.

Box score:	R.	H.	E.
Corey's Garage	3	8	1
Diamond Feed and Fuel..	1	3	0

Batteries: Babich and Rosano; Tobin, J. Silva and Camera.

Hockey Cup Play Series Planned

NEW YORK, Feb. 10—(U.P.)—Dates for the Stanley cup playoffs were set today at a meeting of the board of governors of the National hockey league.

The winners of the American and International groups will play on March 20, 22 and 25 with the fourth and fifth games, if necessary, on March 27 and 29 or 30. Three victories are necessary to decide the series.

SHADE WINS IN BOUT WITH WILLIS

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10.—UP—A shower of gloved fists thrown by Dave Shade, New York middleweight, fell on the face of Cowboy Jack Willis of Texas for ten rounds here tonight and there was nothing for the referee to do but raise Shade's hand when the bout ended.

Other results:

Charles Hernandez technically knocked out Bobby Pierce, five; Babe Marino knocked out Joe Limas, one; Elmer Mason defeated Tom Corbett, four; "Red" Millette, drew with Charley White, four and George Simpson knocked out Carl Olsen, one.

Notre Dame, Army Play At Chicago

NEW YORK, Feb. 10—(U.P.)—The Army-Notre Dame football game for 1930 will be played at Soldier's Field, Chicago instead of Yankee Stadium, New York, Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell, president of Notre Dame, announced today after a conference with West Point authorities.

The transfer of the game was made to prevent the members of the Notre Dame squad from losing more than two successive weeks from classes. President O'Donnell requested the shift in the site, and it was agreed to with greatest reluctance by the military academy officials.

Under Notre Dame's original schedule the Army game was set for New York Nov. 29, with the Southern California game at Los Angeles Dec. 6.

NEW RECORD

DUBLIN, Feb. 10.—UP—After swimming 28 hours in an indoor pool, Mercedes Greitze, former London typist, claimed the women's endurance record of England.

SAN PABLO 9 LOSES GAME

The San Pablo nine was taken into camp Sunday by the San Leandrans, who came out on the heavy end of a 9 to 8 score.

Wild pitching and almost as wild fielding featured the contest. Carl Kamb of San Pablo was unable to fan more than a single San Leandro slugger, and Cardozza, San Leandro hurler, was equally as bad, also fanning only one local hitter. Fifteen hits were collected off Kamb, who went through the entire game because of the lack of a substitute chucker. Rogers did the receiving for the locals.

Things remained fairly even during the first period, but in the second inning the San Leandrans went into the lead which they held during the remainder of the contest, in spite of the plucky rallies of the San Pablans.

Tennis Club To Meet Tomorrow

The Richmond Tennis association will meet tomorrow night in the city hall to discuss plans for the city tournament to be held soon on the local coutrs.

Much enthusiasm has already been aroused among local tennis circles over this year's local competition. Schedules are being arranged, and final plans will probably be laid at tonight's meeting.

The meeting will start at 7:30 o'clock, W. L. Seawright, president of the association, will preside over the meeting.

Kit Carsons Lose Y Cage Contest

The Lone Eagle Pioneers swamped the Kit Carson pioneers cagers 17 to 0 last night in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

The going was exceedingly rough for the Carson youngsters, who seldom succeeded in securing a free shot, and were then unable to place the ball in the net. The Eagles had a first-class track meet.

FLORISTS BEAT THOMAS NINE

Everything seemed to go wrong with the Thomas Motors in their Sunday contest with the Hayashi Florists nine of Alameda, and the locals consequently lost by a score of 8 to .

Errors with loaded bases and several fatal free trips to first base by the Gardeners cost the Motors the game.

The hurling for the Motors was started by Campana, who was soon replaced by Whetzler. Whetzler pitched steady ball until the eighth inning, when he developed a wild streak. Taylor then occupied the mound for the locals, but he seemed unable to snap the ball across home plate. Hurst then took his place, and quickly fanned two Alamedans. However, his good work went for naught, for a grounder to J. Labetich was fumbled there by allowing two men to cross home plate.

J. Labetich did some heavy hitting for the Thomas aggregation by slapping a fast one over the fence. Swede Jensen and M. Labetich also had a big day at the plate, each gaining three hits out of four chances. M. Labetich was credited with two doubles.

Box Score:	R.	H.	E.
Thomas Motors	7	14	4
Hayashi Florists	8	10	2

Batteries: Campana, Whetzler; Taylor, Hurst and Jensen, Boreanni; Wright and Zanic.

Slattery Wins Right To Meet M. Rosenbloom

BUFFALO, N. Y. Feb. 10.—UP—Jimmie Slattery established a 60 day claim to the light heavyweight championship, vacant since Tommy Leughran joined the heavyweight ranks last summer when he defeated his fellow townsman Lou Scozza, on points in a 15 round bout here tonight.

Slattery weighed 166 3-4, Scozza 169 1-2.

The New York State Athletic commission agreed to recognize the winner of tonight's bout as 175 pound champion but stipulated that he must meet Maxey Rosenbloom here within 60 days.

A crowd of 10,200 paid $68,859 to see the bout.

S'attery had a wide margin, clearly outboxing Scozza throughout most of the fight. Scozzas geratest bid for victory came in the 13th round, when he opened a two fisted attack that apparently had Slattery in danger momentarily.

BOAT CLUB IN PLANS FOR BUILDING

The Richmond Outboard Motor Boat association commenced discussion Sunday on the construction of a clubhouse on the inner harbor in the near future.

A road to the site of the boating activities on the inner harbor is to be built by E. Marshall. Plans were a'so laid Sunday for several races to take place next month.

A new landing float for the local boating association was hauled into place Sunday morning. Many obstacles to the holding of races in the inner harbor have now been eliminated, and everything is almost ready for this innovation in Richmond sport circles.

Sunday's meeting of the Richmond Motor Boat association was directed by Dr. Francis Kent. The club will hold its next meeting next Sunday morning at the foot of Second street at 10 o'clock.

Women's Gym Class To Have Party Tonight

The members of the women's gymnasium class will hold their first social event of the season tonight at Mammy's Place. A large number is expected to attend the affair, as last fall's celebration at Mammy's Place was a great success.

The party will follow the regular gymnsnsium classes held every Tuesday night under the direction of W. L. Seawright.

Long, Kalin In Bowling Finals

Dr. W. Long and C. Ka'in, local entrants in the northern California Auto-Bowling tourney have qualified for the fifth round of the tournament by scoring over 200.

The Richmond bowlers have shown especial prowess during the first four rounds, and ought to have a fair chance of going into the finals. Two more rounds are yet to be played before the semi-finals.

Liver, Gall Bladder and Stomach Trouble Relieved

FONG WAN
Eminently Successful Herbalist

2946 Morgan Ave.
Oakland, Cal.
Nov. 19, 1929.
THE FONG WAN HERB CO.
Dear Mr. Fong—I am writing this letter to express my gratitude for the splendid results and benefits I have received from the use of the Chinese Herbs prepared by you.

I had a complication of Liver, Gall-Bladder and Stomach Trouble with sharp, stabbing pains in the lower right side of my Abdomen. The region of the Liver was exceedingly sore and tender; so much so that even loose clothing became irritating and uncomfortable. My Stomach was also very sore to the touch and felt as if there were a lump the size of an egg in it. After meals, food which was very sour and burned the throat, was returned to the mouth. This condition steadily became worse over a period of a year. During this time, I was treated by two doctors without any appreciable results. Both decided that an operation was necessary.

By good fortune, I came into contact with a man whom you had treated successfully for an Ulcerated Stomach, and he strongly urged me to take your treatment. This I did.

Results were noticeable the very first week, and now, after six weeks, I am entirely free from the terrible stabbing pains and the soreness over my Liver. My digestion is good. The old feeling of lassitude has completely disappeared and I feel much brighter and more energetic than I have for years.

I am most happy to strongly recommend the herbs of the Fong Wan Herb Co. as prepared by you.

Wishing you unbounded success, and again thanking you for what you have done for me, I am
Very cordially yours,
CYRIL MAW.

UPON RECEIPT OF POSTAGE WE WILL MAIL YOU A BOOK ON HERBS. (10c within the first zone or 15c for more distant zones.)

"GENERAL CRACK" BY GEORGE PREEDY

Copyright 1928 by Dodd Mead & Co., Inc.

The Warner Bros. & Vitaphone production starring John Barrymore, is based on this novel.

SYNOPSIS

General Crack, soldier of fortune, has fulfilled his promise of crowning King Leopold as emperor. Victorious, he returns to Brussels, only to learn that Leopold has compromised his wife, Princess Eleanora, whom he had to leave after the marriage ceremony. Eleanora had been affianced to Leopold who reluctantly yielded her to Crack, as the latter's price for entering the war. During the coronation Christian renounces Leopold, and declares he will be avenged. He leaves with his Uhlans. The Empire, slowly consolidated, now quickly crumbles to pieces.

"Where are you riding?" asked Maria Luisa.

"I do not know; I am in the hands of Knittelfeldt. I have made him my Commander-in-Chief. He is a capable but an overbearing man," added Leopold, nervously, "and I cannot tell one day what he will do the next. You are safe enough here, but I must go my way."

Maria Luisa remained dutifully behind, though she would have far rather accompanied him in all his perils; nor was she so safe. Within two days the little town capitulated before the Kurlander's advance and Maria Luisa must again fly in the bitter and unfriendly dawn, with but one child as her companion—a boy who had been her brother's page.

She had hoped to reach Altsdorf, a small fortified town which held for Leopold, before nightfall; but was, naturally enough, lost in the bewilderment of the devastated fields and broken woods, over which any rapid or easy progress was impossible. Both she and the boy were almost immediately footsore, and soon cold and faint with hunger.

"We must pass the night somewhere," said the exhausted Archduchess. "It is impossible for us to reach Altsdorf tonight, even if we knew the direction—which I do not and even the road has disappeared. Everything is frozen over; I cannot distinguish any path." She believed they were walking on a frozen river, for stiff spikes of willows impeded their progress. The horizon was blotted out in a dense winter fog. Wind and snow were alike borne upon the gathering night.

"We shall be frozen to death," murmured the page, "if we do not find some protection against the weather."

They halted at a large barn, which was the sole building that remained of what had once been a prosperous farm.

The boy had a pistol, and flint and tinder, and was for making a fire; but Maria Luisa, in her great fear, forbade this. "There might be foragers about," she said, "and that would draw their attention. I would rather perish of cold than fall into the hands of the rebels!"

With a shudder of distaste, she made her way into the inner part of the barn, where there yet remained a pile of old sacks and some brushwood. Fearful of rats, she peered about in the sombre gloom. The place was still—appeared to have been deserted even by vermin and insects, and almost as cold as the fields. Yet there was protection from the driving wind and the gathering tempest.

It was like a prison here, the space so confined, the dark so dense! And surely she was freezing to death; the blood in her veins ran so sluggishly.

She wished that she could see a star—even one little star—but the scowling clouds lowered, thick as hate, across the heavens.

But presently a human light broke the encircling greyness, and a human sound disturbed the ominous stillness. Half in terror, half in hope, Maria Luisa heard the soft sound of horses' hoofs on the bitter air and through the rising wind.

They were riding nearer, and she cowered back into the blackness of the barn.

The men came up carefully over the frozen ground, and paused before the barn, the foremost of them holding high a lantern that he flashed into the recesses of her shelter.

Maria Lusia hesitated, speculating as to whether this was help or disaster. She could not see the uniforms of the men, for they were all wrapped in pelisses and fur cloaks; but they saw her, almost immediately, and she heard one after another of them exclaim: "A woman!" while a voice said instantly: "It is the sister of the Elector of Bavaria!"

She knew, by the form this statement took that they were enemies; Leopold was not the Emperor to them. And when the same voice added, in a tone of indifference: "Madame, you seem in some distress," she knew who it was that spoke: Prince Christian himself—General Crack.

Cowering, she looked up and saw him where he sat among his men, by the lamplight, as she had last seen her brother sit among his men by lamplight.

"This is a heavy chance," she said, bewildered by her own ill fortune, and in the very depths of fear and humiliation.

Christian was wrapped in a heavy fur pelisse to his chin, gloved, booted extravagantly, but she knew his face instantly—a face too familiar to her, although she had not often seen it; and even at that moment, she found time to wonder why he had instantly known her, of whom he had never taken much notice, and who was now so disguised by poor and disarranged attire.

"Cannot Your Highness ride on, and leave me to make my way to Altsdorf?" she asked with timid dignity.

"Altsdorf is ours," he replied, briefly. "If that town is your destination, I can show you some hospitality there."

She cried: "No, no!" with the utmost loathing, and he laughed: a laugh echoed instantly by his men. Two of his soldiers had dismounted, and were searching the barn. They had found the boy, who was struggling with his pistol; and Maria Luisa cried out:

"Monseigneur, you can let him go! He is only a boy—a page of my brother's; the last left of my retinue!"

Christian said:

"Do not hurt the boy, but bring him, with the lady, to Altsdorf. You can, Madame, in this necessity, ride pillion with one of my men."

"I would rather," she replied, desperately, "stay here, and, if need be, perish."

"The decision rests with me," said General Crack, grimly.

XXII

MARIA LUISA was on her knees in the centre of the bare floor when the door was unlocked and opened, and there appeared, not a soldier, but a valet in the Kurland liveries, who told her respectfully that supper was served below, and Prince Christian desired her company.

Maria Luisa remained stupidly on her knees, as if she pleaded, not with the image that she held in her hand, but with the impassive lackey.

"Is Count Hensdorff here?" she stammered.

"No, Madame: Count Hensdorff has not returned, but maybe he will be here again to-night."

"Tell your master," replied Maria Luisa, stumbling over her words, "that I am ill, exhausted, and most unhappy, and that I beseech him to forgo my wretched company to-night."

The valet twisted his lips with a look of ironic pity.

"His Highness will take no excuses, and it were best not to inflame him by offering any."

"But it is impossible that I should attend your master," she pleaded, not rising; "look at me, all disarrayed as I am!"

The valet replied:

"I am sorry, Madame, but we have no ladies' habits here—the town has been sacked."

"Are there no women?" she asked. "Is there no one whom you could send to me?"

"There are women enough," he replied, "but I do not think you would greatly care for their presence, Madame."

Maria Luisa rose: she reminded herself that her father had been an emperor, and her brother at least had had the Imperial pretension. There must be some way of meeting this atrocious situation with dignity and pride. . . .

"I cannot," she said, faintly, "be thus summoned into your master's presence. I am the Archduchess Maria Luisa."

The valet had known this; her words, that she had thought so brave, sounded to him but a feeble flourish.

"Shall I tell my master that you refuse to come down, Madame?" he asked, negligently.

And she, debating with herself, thought in her anguish: "Perhaps it is wiser for me to go. . . . Perhaps I should face him, not remain here—to be dragged, I suppose, in the end, into his presence."

Plot Charged In Appointment Of New Justice

with the nomination, stuck to his objection later when Watson made a personal appeal for his approval.

Blease announced he has called upon physicians attending William Howard Taft, who resigned as Chief Justice a week ago today, for a statement as to his physical condition. Blease charged Taft has not been as seriously ill as represented.

Senator Norris opposed the nomination in a speech, and Senator Glass, Dem., Va., interjected to ask Norris if he knew about Hughes' famous supreme court decision in the Shreveport case, "where the last rights of the States were extirpated." This decision held that the federal government had paramount control over interstate commerce.

Haste Seen

Blease's objection put the nomination over to the regular calendar, where it may not be reached for several days.

Doherty's letter said he had heard that Justice Taft's resignation was "procured under peculiar circumstances" and that the change announced a week ago today, was "made with unseemly haste."

"There are rumors afloat," Doherty said, "that a huge and uncontrollable political machine has been or is being built up whereby the governmental control of this nation will be lodged in the hands of a few men, and, with the confirmation of Judge Hughes, this control will not only embrace each of the three coordinated branches of the federal government, but will extend as far as possible to a control of the separate states. The Senate should investigate these rumors, he said, "if for no other reason than to assure the public against need for alarm."

"Disclosures Seen"

"I have heard," he added, "that this is only the first disclosure in a series of political maneuvers which is probably aimed to give political control of the entire country to a small group of men, and it is common report that already President Hoover's supporters are at work to make Mr. Hughes Jr., the governor of New York. * * *

"I am fearful of the influence which may govern Judge Hughes, and I especially fear what may result from his own self-assurance."

Doherty, who is head of Cities Service company, perhaps the leading independent oil operator in the country, said Hughes had been employed by the Petroleum Institute as counsel "because of his influence over President Coolidge and Secretary of Commerce Hoover."

Fear Expressed

Fear was expressed that Hughes, as Chief Justice, would approve decisions which would lead to spoliation of the nation's oil resources.

In his statement to the Senate, Norris said Hughes' appointment "detracts from the high ideals" which should be associated with the supreme court. Hughes resigned from the court to run for president in 1916 and "he ought not be, by political power, put back again on the bench when he voluntarily left to enter the political world," Norris said.

He has six children by Dr. Moraine Estes, who is 26 years old.

Superior Judge Walter Guerin continued the hearing until March 10 to investigate the asserted Mexican divorce.

SCENIC BEAUTY OF STATE TO BE GUARDED

A vacuum cleaning process is being applied to the scenic highways of California. Sweeping from the Oregon line to the Mexican border, along the path of California's golden sunshine, civic pride is scooping up unsightly signs and vending stands that have been encroaching upon natural scenic beauties.

This announcement is made by A. Emory Wishon, chairman of the state chamber of commerce, who further states that chambers of commerce from one end of the state to the other are co-operating with his organization to preserve California's scenic beauty.

First Unit

A. E. Roth, comptroller of Stanford University and chairman of the sub-committee on scenic highways, states that the first complete unit of road has been signed as a scenic reservation. "Pacheco Pass" he further announces "running from Hollister and Gilroy over the hills to the San Joaquin valley, has been given a clean bill of scenic health by the property owners on each side of the road. The San Benito county chamber of commerce, co-operating with the highway committee of the state chamber of commerce, has secured pledges from them that they will allow no signs nor vending stands on their property.

"A. D. McKinnon, president of the San Benito county chamber of commerce, and C. N. Hawkins of Hollister, co-operating with the highway committee, were the men responsible for securing this reserve as the first of California's scenic areas.

Other Areas

"In addition to Pacheco Pass, the following have been designated as scenic areas in this region: Skyline boulevard, San Francisco line to Santa Cruz; Hecker Jass; Los Gatos to Santa Cruz; Salinas to Monterey; Carmel to Morro; Coast highway past San Luis road thru Pismo to Arroyo Grande; Niles canyon; Dublin canyon; San Lucas to Priest valley, Fresno county line; Paso Robles to Kern county line; San Lorenzo valley river drive.

W. W. Scott of Richmond is aiding in the work as a member of the highway committee of this regional district of the state chamber of commerce.

Richard Glendon Has Operation

Joseph Kramer Has Narrow Escape

MARTINEZ, Feb. 10.—Joseph Kramer, 5229 Esmond avenue, Richmond, and passengers in his car, had a narrow escape from injuries when his car crashed into a heavy fence at the end of a "blind" street here recently.

Kramer did not observe that the street did not continue until it was too late to stop his car.

MARIN SPAN TO BE STARTED IN JULY

of the Brothers for a distance of 3100 feet at the center thereof and vertical clearance of not less than 200 feet at mean high water for span between Point San Pablo and the Brothers for a distance of 300 feet." Horizontal clearance of 1000 feet is also provided under the revised plans.

Plans Drawn

Plans in detail will be drawn by Charles Derleth, Jr., noted engineer, who is connected with the University of California, and who designed the Carquinez bridge. He will be assisted by George Calder, consulting engineer.

It is believed that the new bridge will be of the same type as the Carquinez bridge, although a larger project.

The span will leave the Richmond shore at a point just south of Winehaven and will connect with the highway now running along the shore of Point San Pablo. The Marin terminus will be at a point that is known as Chicken Point, not far from San Rafael.

Important Link

When Klatt first announced plans for the bridge and filed an application for a permit, it was bitterly fought by ship owners and the navy department on the ground that it would be an obstruction to safe navigation.

But, with the assurance of Klatt that the bridge would be high enough to permit the passage of the largest ship or dreadnaught, the opposition melted away.

The bridge will be an important link in the highway system in the state. It will open the gates of Marin county to the eastbay region and will connect with the Redwood highway. Traffic will be permitted to flow from the mainland to and from the Redwood Empire without the interruptions of waiting for ferries.

Will Aid City

Richmond will be placed in a strategic position on the highway system and the bridge will make this city an important point on the Redwood highway.

With the start of the construction, it is expected that hundreds of bridge workers and divers will be brought to Richmond and will reside here during the work.

At the present time, ferries owned and operated by the Richmond-San Rafael Ferry company take care of traffic across the bay to Marin county.

In spite of the fact that a 20-minute service is maintained, the ferries have been found to be inadequate during rush days, especially on holidays and Saturdays and Sundays.

Injuries Fatal To Local Woman

The remains of Mrs. Marie A. Coffin, 48, will be interred in the family plot in Mountain View cemetery, Oakland, following funeral services at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Curry's parlors.

Mrs. Coffin who resided in the Richmond annex, died in the Martinez hospital Sunday from injuries sustained in an auto accident several weeks ago. She was a native of Sweden and had resided in the Annex about 10 years.

She is survived by her husband, Wellington Coffin, and two sons, Wilton of Berkeley and Ernest of San Francisco.

Ricks Case Not To Be Aired At Realty Session

MARTINEZ, Feb. 10 — The "Ricks Case," which has been causing so much furor in the Contra Costa county board of realtors, and has threatened to tear the board into warring sections, will not be aired at Wednesday night's meeting, when W. H. Daum president of the state association and Glenn D. Williams, its secretary, pay their official visit.

This was revealed in a statement by D. D. Watson, president of the Contra Costa county board.

Watson declared that he personlly was keeping out of the case, and would not allow it to come up at the dinner meeting.

Hhe said that the controversy has never been a board or state association matter, and that if a member of the board has a complaint to make against any other member, it must be made in writing. It must then be referred for a hearing to the board's ethics committee, who, in turn, report their findings back to the executive committee for decision.

According to that policy, Watson declared, nothing of that nature can be argued or discussed at an open board meeting.

In regards to a rumor that newspaper men would be barred from the meeting, Watson said that the board's meetings are always open to members of the press, or anyone else interested in real estate matters.

It is not expected that Commissioner Stephen Barnson will attend the meeting.

Daum is reported to be greatly in favor of the salt water barrier project, and will confine his address to the possibilities of Contra Costa county for industrial growth and development.

Protect Your Furniture

A $1.25 to Rid Your Home of Moths May Save You Hundreds of Dollars.

MORTEMOTH KILLS MOTHS

The gas from Mortemoth crystals not only protects your furniture for a long time, but contact with it kills all moths, their eggs and their dangerous larvae in furniture which is already infested.

The proper method of using Mortemoth crystals is to tie them in small sacks, and to place these sacks down in the channel of the piece, as deeply as possible, behind the cushions, so that, upon expansion, the gas will spread and fill the spring units in the back and in the bottom of the piece.

When the sacks are empty, fill them again.
